The Lady Fall (Scwd-gwladys) is situated on the Little Neath River about one and a quarter miles from the town of Pont Neath Vaughan. The water descends over a sheer precipice 40 feet high, and, shooting quite clear of the rocks, makes it possible for the visitor to get right under it without getting wet. The most beautiful feature of the falls is the luxuriant woodland growth which covers the banks of the river, making it one of the most charming scenes in Glyn Neath.
